SOLYVENT FLÄKT AWARDED MAJOR FAN CONTRACT FROM HHI FOR JEDDAH SOUTH SUPERCRITICAL POWER PLANT IN SAUDI ARABIA

Leading axial fan supplier Solyvent Fläkt AB, part of Fläkt Woods Group, has been awarded a major contract to design and deliver a total of 40 fans for the construction of the Jeddah South, 2,640 MW oil-fired thermal power plant, located on the coast of Saudi Arabia near Mecca. The customer, Hyundai Heavy Industries (HHI), is the sole EPC contractor for the power plant.

Solyvent Fläkt will deliver all equipment during 2014. When operational, in 2017, the full load electrical production of the Jeddah South power plant will represent 5% of Saudi Arabia's entire power generation capacity.

Solyvent Fläkt will provide complete fan solutions including main motors, sand filters and silencers. The contract includes both large axial variable pitch in motion PF fans and large centrifugal Technopal fans.

Solyvent Fläkt was chosen by HHI for the following reasons:

- Comprehensive support during the entire bidding process through their local presence in Korea together with technical expertise from the Center of Excellence in Växjö Sweden.
- Compliance with the specification requirements for high fan efficiency for all fans.
- The axial PF fan design meets the end user's need for easy maintenance with short down time for the power plant.
- Solyvent Fläkt's axial two-stage PF fans are delivered as a fully assembled rotor excluding blades to facilitate quick and easy assembly at site, minimizing installation cost.
